

EMPOWERING YOUTH TO ACHIEVE THEIR GREATEST POTENTIAL

Fiscal Year 2020 Annual Report

Letters from Our Leadership

Dear FYI Community,

From the start of COVID-19, FYI staff stood together on sand shifting beneath our feet. We learned to expect the unexpected as one day's mandate was retracted the next. We acted quickly when families reported food shortages by delivering groceries to people's quarantined homes. Hundreds of children and extended family members benefit to this day.

Support for FYI's efforts poured in from everywhere – teachers at Luperón High School started a GoFundMe page, foundations awarded grants, and individual donors, staff, alum, and board members reached into their pockets to help us out. Thank you, each and every one of you, for your generosity in the midst of so much uncertainty and so much need.

FYI staffers addressed other rising problems – we provided tech support connecting kids to virtual school; unemployment guidance for parents; and counseling for children and families suffering with anxiety, depression, and grief. We assisted principals and teachers as they recreated the classroom and requested outreach for children who had disappeared from school. Like the rest of the world, we zoomed, and phoned, and adapted.

And then a crisis of racial injustice seared our souls as George Floyd suffered the agony of a thousand deaths before our eyes. We felt shattered by racism that seems to have no end. FYI staff drew tightly together while remaining focused on our community.

With your help, our steadfast donors and partners, we will continue to bring food, social services, reading instruction, mental health counseling and an array of supports and opportunities to our families in the years to come.

We hope you find meaning in this annual report which looks back at a year of change, action, and small miracles.

Stay well and with warmest regards,

Eileen Lyons, LMSW
Executive Director

Dear FYI Community:

Thank you for taking the time to read about our accomplishments in the 2020 fiscal year. I'm so proud of the staff who helped families through the toughest moments of the past year. We could not have achieved these wins without your support, reader. Thank you for being a part of our FYI community.

During a year when many non-profit institutions found themselves struggling to survive, our structures, practices, and fiscal responsibility enabled us to thrive in 2020 and build our capacity to better serve Washington Heights families into the future.

As we look forward to the upcoming year, our Board of Directors is focused on sustaining our financial stability, managing our growth, and building a licensed mental health clinic.

Thank you for your support of Fresh Youth Initiatives.

Sincerely,

More Students = More Impact

FYI was awarded three new New York State government contracts, adding 180 students at three program sites.

New Literacy Program

In 2020, with generous funding from the Stephen and May Cavin Leeman Foundation, we launched "The Reading Zone" - a literacy instruction program for 90 struggling middle and high schoolers. Students learn with a group of their peers, guided by FYI's Academic Coaches.

Virtual Learning

FYI's Education staff took extraordinary measures throughout the pandemic, providing mentoring, tutoring, emotional support, and hands-on help with new technology platforms.

265 families

learned how to help their children use the technology required for remote school

Practicing reflection and mindfulness at the annual high school leadership retreat at Camp Scatico in Elizaville, NY

Mental Health & Wellness

Recognizing Needs of Immigrant Youth

At Luperón HS, where 100% of students are recent immigrants, FYI is normalizing conversations around immigration, mental health, identity, and stress. The Clinical Team provides individual, group, and family counseling, drop-in hours, conflict mediation, and crisis intervention.

Family Wellness Checks

Parents relied on FYI to keep them informed in the early days of the pandemic. Staff called 1,000 families to assess their needs and connect them to resources. Staff made weekly wellness checks, staffed a Phone Bank, and developed a webpage to provide up-to-date information throughout the lockdown period.

Empowering Parents

Open communication with parents and families ensures student success. Staff hosted parent workshops and family nights at our PS128 and Luperón HS sites to build community with our parents.

BY THE NUMBERS

225 teens

acquired coping skills for mental health stressors through advisory, case management, and counseling services

300 teens

developed academic and personal goal-setting skills through group and classroom mental health education programs

Let the Music Play!

FYI Samba serenaded New York City throughout the year, including numerous performances at FYI Headquarters, the grand opening of Wells Fargo's 125th Street location, and at the 2020 PASEtetter Awards.

FYI in the Community

While most of our programming occurs on-site, FYI'ers got out into the community to make a difference (i.e., serving soup at the Fort Washington Men's Shelter) and let their voice be heard (i.e., attending the NYC Youth Climate Strike).

Social Services

Stabilizing families throughout COVID-19

New Partnerships

FYI proudly announces our new partnership with New York Common Pantry to provide food and social services to families in need. This program was especially important for undocumented families who were ineligible for federal stimulus benefits.

Emergency Food Delivery

Outreach calls to families early in the pandemic confirmed that food insecurity was an immediate and pressing issue. FYI redeployed staff to create a new hunger relief program for families in need. Neighbors and community partners joined in our efforts to keep children and families safe.

One Family's Story

From the start of virtual school, eight year old Cristian J. struggled with remote learning. In a battle of wills with his mom, Cristian squirmed, cried, slept, and wandered off at every opportunity. After six tough weeks, Mrs. J called FYI for help. Staff immediately linked Cristian to Liliana Santana, an FYI Academic Coach and gifted educator.

In their virtual tutoring sessions, Liliana employed games and fun problem-solving activities; she assessed Cristian's math and literacy skills as well as his learning style; she also listened intently to understand Cristian's home and family context. She discerned the family's financial problems.

Liliana invited Mrs. J to talk privately, asking if FYI could help, specifically through our food program. Mrs. J declined. Liliana recognized a polite pride with which she was familiar, perhaps a common stigma against accepting charity. Liliana took a step back, but never let go.

Over time, Cristian showed dramatic improvements in his learning and school engagement. He looked forward to tutoring. At every session, Liliana made a point of greeting Mrs. J, even inviting her to join the sessions. Months later, when trust and respect had been established, Mrs. J asked about FYI's food deliveries.

Within days, the family received enough groceries to sustain them for a month.

Mrs. J became a regular participant in tutoring sessions with Cristian. She spoke privately with Liliana about some of the new techniques she'd learned by watching Liliana work with Cristian.

FYI's work with children is now expanded to stabilize vulnerable families. Our social services, food program, and planned mental health clinic ensure that we will achieve that goal.

FYI: A Community Stronghold

during COVID-19

Thanks to you, our generous and caring circle of supporters, FYI remained a community stronghold when the pandemic spread throughout New York City in March 2020.

Each year, more than 1,000 students and their families count on FYI as a second home, a support system, and a link to opportunities. Thanks to your support, immigrant and first-generation youth in Washington Heights can count on FYI to help them achieve a healthy and secure future.
